NEA BAPTIST HEALTH SYSTEM

NEA Baptist Health System, at their Hilltop medical campus, is composed of an integrated medical delivery system in which physician offices are just steps away from the hospital floors they service. The NEA Baptist Health System is comprised of NEA Baptist Memorial Hospital and NEA Baptist Clinic. Since relocating to Hilltop, NEA Baptist has been in a constant state of growth which has allowed the hospital to increase from 196 beds to 228 beds, with more expansion projects on the horizon to accommodate the demand for healthcare services in the region.

The hospital offers extensive inpatient and outpatient services—emergency department, surgical services, neurology, respiratory care, cancer care, pulmonary rehabilitation and more. NEA Baptist Memorial Hospital also features advanced heart care through the Heart Center of NEA and labor and delivery through the hospital's Women's Center.

Some expansions have already come to fruition including The Reserve at NEA which is near the main medical campus. As a lifestyle medical park, new offices at The Reserve at NEA include the Pain Management Center, Dermatology & Mohs Surgery, and a Pediatric Clinic. NEA Baptist Health System also has the Fowler Family Center for Cancer Care which offers all-inclusive comprehensive cancer care in one building.

NEA Baptist Clinic is a leader in clinical research and a key provider of medical specialty services with thousands of clinic visits each year. The clinic is comprised of over 100 physicians in more than 35 specialties. NEA Baptist shapes its care around the evolving health care needs of the community. They listen as patients tell them what health is to them and are steadily developing new specialty services to meet their expectations—right here at home.

In addition to the hospital and clinics, NEA Baptist Charitable Foundation serves to help change lives through programs and services in Northeast Arkansas. Programs include the Center for Good Grief, Medicine Assistance Program, HopeCircle, and ShareHope.

NEW YORK INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE AT ARKANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

If you visit a clinic or hospital in Northeast Arkansas, there's a chance you'll be seen by a physician who attended medical school right here in Jonesboro. Just eight years after New York Institute of Technology College of Osteopathic Medicine opened on the Arkansas State University campus, a number of the medical school's graduates are now practicing in the region. That marks a significant step in fulfilling NYIT at A-State's mission of training physicians to work in one of the most medically-underserved regions in the country. "We are incredibly proud to see our alumni living the mission," said Dr. Shane Speights, Dean of NYIT at A-State. "For everyone involved in our medical school, it gives us such a great sense of pride seeing these physicians establish roots in these communities and serve them through medicine."

Mission and Vision

In America's Health Rankings 2022 Annual Report, Arkansas ranked 48th among states in overall health ranking. The Association of American Medical Colleges 2021 Physician Workforce Report ranked Arkansas 47th in the number of active physicians per capita and 38th in the number of primary care physicians.

NYIT at A-State was established in 2016 with the mission of meeting the need for more physicians in this medically underserved area and to provide health education programs to help improve outcomes in Arkansas and the Delta.

NYIT at A-State is the first osteopathic medical school established in the state and the second medical school founded in Arkansas. The college, which serves as an additional location of NYIT in Long Island, New York, is located on the Jonesboro campus of Arkansas State University. The main NYIT campus in New York was founded in 1977 and is one of the largest osteopathic medical schools in the United States, with over 300 students per class and more than 7,500 graduates practicing in all 50 states and 18 countries.

NYIT's Arkansas campus was established through a private/public partnership with Arkansas State University. The medical school operates out of Wilson Hall on the A-State campus. The first seven classes admitted to NYIT at A-State included more than 70 students who completed their undergraduate work at Arkansas State University prior to their matriculation to medical school, an impeccable illustration of the pipeline NYIT is providing for aspiring physicians from this area to train in Northeast Arkansas.

Training Future D.O.ctors

NYIT at A-State students are working toward a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (D.O.) degree. A D.O. is one of two types of physicians that can practice unlimited medicine and surgery in the United States, the other being Allopathic physicians, or M.D.s.

While there are numerous similarities, there are two key features that distinguish M.D.s from D.O.s. The first is philosophy. At its foundation, osteopathic medicine believes that the human body has the ability to heal itself if given the chance, and that, for the most part, it does an excellent job at maintaining health with the proper diet and activity.

Second, the Osteopathic philosophy teaches that the structure and function of the human body is deeply connected, and when disease occurs there is typically "dysfunction" that the physician can identify by physically examining the patient. Osteopathic physicians use osteopathic manipulative medicine (OMM) to diagnose and treat dysfunction that "helps" the body maintain that state of health.

The Perfect Match

Upon the completion of medical school, physicians must complete residency training to obtain their license to practice medicine in the United States. Residencies typically last three to seven years, depending on the specialty.

NYIT at A-State's first four classes enjoyed an overwhelmingly successful showing in the National Residency Match Program (NRPM) as 100% of its graduates are now in post-graduate training.

Osteopathic medicine requires the physician to look at the "whole" patient. A patient presented with shoulder pain could actually be suffering from an injury to the foot or ankle, or even something in the abdomen.

A majority of doctors that practice osteopathic medicine choose careers as a primary care physicians (family medicine, internal medicine, pediatrics, general surgery, obstetrics/gynecology, and psychiatry), and that was one of the major reasons NYIT chose to partner with A-State to institute a D.O. program in Jonesboro. Approximately 70% of NYIT at A-State graduates have pursued primary care specialties.

Approximately half of NYIT at A-State graduates matched into residencies that kept them in Arkansas or a Delta state.

Jonesboro is home to three residency programs: Internal Medicine Residencies at NEA Baptist Health System and St. Bernards Medical Center, and a Family Medicine Program at UAMS Northeast. Of its first four classes, 30 NYIT at A-State alumni have matched into one of those three residency programs.

More Than a Medical School

Graduating great physicians that practice excellent medicine is an expectation. However, that's not enough. NYIT believes it is a privilege to be a physician, and with great privilege comes great responsibility. The college emphasizes servant leadership, and its student doctors are actively involved in a number of community-based programs.

In 2018, NYIT received a United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Delta Healthcare Service Grant for $828,748 to fund a health screening and education program. Much of the funding was used to build a mobile medical unit known as the Delta Care-a-van. At each Delta-Care-a-van event, community members have the opportunity to be screened for hypertension, glucose and anxiety/depression. Participants also receive referrals to regional physicians for follow-up care and information about resources that are available in their communities.

The Delta Care-a-van program operates through the Delta Population Health Institute (DPHI), an organization NYIT founded in 2019 to serve as the medical school's community engagement arm. The DPHI also oversees a health policy fellowship in conjunction with Congressman Rick Crawford's office that allows medical students to engage in health policy research and gain invaluable experience in the legislative process. The DPHI actively engages with a number of organizations around the state to create programs that address the social factors of health and promote health equity to catalyze thriving and prosperous rural communities of the Delta.

NYIT students often speak to elementary schools about the importance of vaccines, why they need to regularly wash their hands or a host of other relevant health topics. The medical students also volunteer at free health screenings and clinics, and serve at food banks.

Each summer, NYIT at A-State hosts two programs--Project H.E.A.R.T. and S.H.A.R.E.--that allow high school students to spend time on a medical school campus, be mentored by current medical students, and learn about career opportunities in healthcare and STEM. These are just a few of the ways NYIT at A-State has shown its commitment to impacting health in Arkansas and serving our communities.

“For everyone involved in our medical school, it gives us such a great sense of pride seeing these physicians establish roots in these communities and serve them through medicine.”

ARKANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

A Carnegie Research 2 university, Arkansas State University is the second-largest university in the state, and a leader in innovation and collaboration. Making its home in Jonesboro, A-State is one of a handful of universities in America with its combination of research, outreach and community. Proud of its role in educating first generation students for more than a century, A-State's stature and resources allow students to pursue the highest of academic goals while still being the size university where faculty and staff know students personally and Every Red Wolf Counts.

A-State hosts the first osteopathic medical school in Arkansas, the New York Institute of Technology's College of Osteopathic Medicine. It opened the first U.S.-style residential campus in Mexico in fall of 2017. A-State is the home to the region's concert and convention venues, as well as a NCAA FBS athletics program.

With its Discover 2025 Strategic Plan as its guide, A-State is engaged in creating new collaboration opportunities including the Center for No-Boundary Thinking, the recently established Institute for Rural Initiatives, and the final steps for the first College of Veterinary Medicine in the state. A-State has more than 14,000 current students from across America and around the world, and proud to have over 100,000 alumni.

Undergraduate experiences are highlighted for the last decade with the Create@State spring conference. Create@State participants have an advantage in achieving the graduate school of their choice, including continuing to advanced degrees at A-State. Research opportunities alongside our faculty are common at A-State, such as the student-driven research project launched by NASA to the International Space Station in 2022.

A-State begins its second decade offering online curriculum and course work, and remains the largest provider of 100% online degree programs based in the state with more than 100 degree programs along with a new industry-focused continuing education program.

The second largest employer in the area, A-State is one of the vital economic engines of Northeast Arkansas by producing more than 2,000 graduates over the past three academic years and by having a significant business impact from its operations. The university receives high marks for the social mobility of its graduates nationally, and is the only university in Arkansas to receive the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) Award—an achievement it has earned six consecutive years.

Combined with hosting the Red Wolf Convention Center and Embassy Suites Hotel, a one-mile radius on the A-State campus, serves as the cultural hub of the region. We also boast the largest concert venue, First National Bank Arena, as well as the largest concert hall and theatre located at the Fowler Center.

The Bradbury Art Museum is the region's leading visual arts facility. Arkansas State's Heritage Sites program operates four nationally and internationally known museum locations including the Johnny Cash Boyhood Home and the Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum. And, the Arkansas State Museum located adjacent to the Dean B. Ellis Library, is home to the only accredited natural history museum on a university campus in our state.

Among our academic divisions, the Neil Griffin College of Business is the first named college, and is home to the Delta Center for Economic Development, the Bob Wood Sales Leadership Center, the Women's Leadership Center, and one of the top-rated online MBA programs in the region.

Arkansas State's School of Media and Journalism is home to an accredited media program whose students regularly take home national awards, the oldest NPR-member radio station west of the Mississippi (KASU) and a century-long tradition of student-run newspaper, The Herald.

A-State's College of Nursing and Health Professions is nationally known with collaborative arrangements with NYIT's on-campus medical school. The College of Engineering and Computer Science is home to the Hytrol Materials Handling Laboratory. The College of Education and Behavioral Science operates one of the largest early childhood services systems in the region.

The Arkansas Biosciences Institute houses faculty from across the campus in their efforts to create new basic research. Soon A-State will break ground for the Windgate Hall for Art and Innovation nearby that will service as a collaboration space for similar teaching, creative endeavors and research.

The campus is one of the most vibrant in the region. Making campus a safe and welcoming place to live is a high priority. The state's first Bicycle Friendly University, Arkansas State was recently affirmed as one of only 67 silver status institutions in the country, highlighting the miles of on-campus trails for walkers, runners and riders. A-State was cited as having one of the top 25 university police departments in the country, and is a National Weather Service StormReady Campus.

A-State is the home of the Red Wolves, a FBS Division I athletics program, highlighted by making nine consecutive bowl appearances in the 2010s, back-to-back triple crown conference track titles for men and women, 14 consecutive NCAA bowling championship appearances including national runner-up in 2021, and recently earning both the Bubas Cup (awarded to the Sun Belt Conference's top all-sport award) as well as a record high student-athlete GPA in the same season. Arkansas State sponsors 16 varsity sports teams, including football, cross country, basketball, golf, indoor track, outdoor track and baseball for men; women athletes compete in soccer, outdoor track, cross country, indoor track, bowling, tennis, basketball, volleyball and golf. A-State also sponsors nationally competitive club sport teams like rugby, softball, competitive cheer and dance, and Esports that have earned national titles or national runner-up titles in recent years.

A-State is the flagship institution of the ASU System, which serves more than 23,000 students with independent college campuses at Beebe, Newport, Malvern (ASU Three Rivers), Mountain Home and West Memphis (ASU Mid-South) as well as Henderson State University in Arkadelphia. Arkansas State also offers bachelor's degree programs and upper-level courses at ASU-Beebe, ASU-Mountain Home and ASU Mid-South.

We were formed in the wake of the horrific attack in Uvalde, Texas, when several veterans, including a former Navy fighter pilot, former Navy SEALs, and a former Marine got together to fulfill a significant need we saw. Over several months, we evolved our mission to improve community safety and security through comprehensive risk assessments and emergency planning; security and safety remediation; leadership, teamwork, and decision-making training; and tactical rifle and pistol training for law enforcement and security officers.

Proventus is also licensed by the Arkansas State Police as an Institution of Instruction (IOI), to train and certify armed and unarmed private security officers, and armed and commissioned school security officers (CSSOs). We serve a wide variety of organizations including K-12 schools, universities, small and large businesses, houses of worship, industry, retail and hospitality establishments, healthcare networks, energy producers, and sports and entertainment venues. And we've partnered with Black River Technical College (BRTC) to offer students and staff "Heroic Leadership Courses: Harnessing the Navy Seal Strategy for Workplace Excellence," which are available on both the Paragould and Pochontas campuses, and which are also available to industries and organizations at their facilities.

We have developed our proprietary training programs, and oversee and actively participate in their execution. We're particularly proud of our experience and expertise in providing leadership training through local universities and directly to clients that improves self- and situational awareness, enhances trust building, strengthens team cohesion, and improves decision making, including under stress. We also offer instruction in leadership, conflict resolution, de-escalating of potentially dangerous situations, and can create a custom curriculum to meet a client's specific needs.

Our risk assessment professionals help operators of stand-alone facilities, or multi-location businesses understand their security posture, and effectively address risks and threats to their people, property, and operations. We consider a range of threats from strategic malign actors to environmental hazards, as well as external factors such as supply-chain interruptions or other threats to local infrastructure and business continuity.

"Proventus is proud to be part of the Jonesboro community, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and a contributor to the safety and security of the entire region."

THE DARK SIDE OF THE

It's not every year a total solar eclipse passes through Jonesboro. In April 2024, a total solar eclipse will pass through Arkansas. A solar eclipse takes place when the moon passes between the earth and the sun. According to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), "a total solar eclipse is not noticeable until the sun is more than 90 percent covered by the moon. At 99 percent coverage, daytime lighting resembles local twilight."

The path of totality is, in the simplest terms, the shadow of the moon crossing the earth. It's the area where you can see the moon fully cover the sun. During the Great American Eclipse of 2024, Arkansas path of totality includes nearly 2/3 of the state.

On April 8, 2024, Jonesboro is a place for many to catch this very rare out of this world event. With a variety of lodging locations, Jonesboro is a prime spot for visitors to share in the experience.

WHERE TO CATCH THE ECLIPSE?

Jonesboro's Parks and Recreation Department is prepared to host visitors at a number of the public parks and ballparks located in Jonesboro. Prime viewing can be experienced from the Joe Mack Campbell Park and Southside Softball Complex.

Reserved camping can be found at Craighead Forest Park. Follow Jonesboro Parks and Recreation on Facebook for more information.

THE MOON

Ask Ryan!

We have all seen partial eclipses. They are neat to see, and we all get a nice little astronomy lesson when they occur. The total solar eclipse that we will see on April 8th, 2024, will be so much better!

Do not let the word "eclipse" in the name fool you into thinking it is anything like you have seen here in the past. The difference is night and day.

On April 8, a partial eclipse will start at 12:37 PM and for much of the event, it will look like the partial eclipses of the past. At the start, we will need solar glasses to see the eclipse unfold. Much like the eclipse of October 2023, we will slowly watch the face of the sun be eclipsed by the moon. But when we transition from 99% to 100%, the sky will go dark. We will see stars. The horizon in all directions will appear like the end of a sunset. Crickets and other insects will start making noises. For these 2 minutes and 23 seconds in Jonesboro, we will be able to take off our solar glasses to see an incredible sight!

The sunlight will be completely blocked by the moon, but you will see the corona of the sun appear as a pearly-white halo around the sun and moon as they slowly dance in the sky. As soon as the total eclipse ends, you must put the solar glasses back on as the moon exposes the face of the sun again.

It is rare to have a total solar eclipse anywhere in the USA, but this will be the second one in 7 years. In 2017, I had the chance to drive to Illinois for the total solar eclipse. It was incredible! I've seen a lot of things in nature over the years and that experience is at the top of the list. A friend of mine made a comment afterward that did not make sense to me, but also fully made sense at the same time. He said, "it's like God let us peek behind the curtain." I still do not know what that means, but that is how it felt. If the weather cooperates, April 8, 2024, is going to be an amazing experience for most of Region 8!
